

Credential/Condition Assertion Verification

Optimization

5

ABSTRACT

A method and apparatus ascertain which credential and which condition both from a network security policy best describe, respectively, information about initiator and target principals involved in an interaction, and tests performed on a state of an associated protocol event.